A Passage Through Time . . .

The element of Time . . .

Webster defines Time as "The allotted, appointed, fixed, or customary moment or hour for something to happen, begin or end."

No attempt is made here to allot or appoint. Rather, the raison d'etre of the 1963 Cauldron is to fix a period in our lives which had begun, happened and, somewhat sadly ended.

These were the crucial years, the chaotic years, the happy years, the sad years; the time of our lives; the moments of hell-raising, heartache, hardship; a panorama of experiences which, although we oftimes won't admit it, we do hold somewhat fondly to us.

Somehow, we cannot help but feel that this was the time someone had issued a challenge to us — and we emerged victorious. Surely, the experience must be recorded. . . .

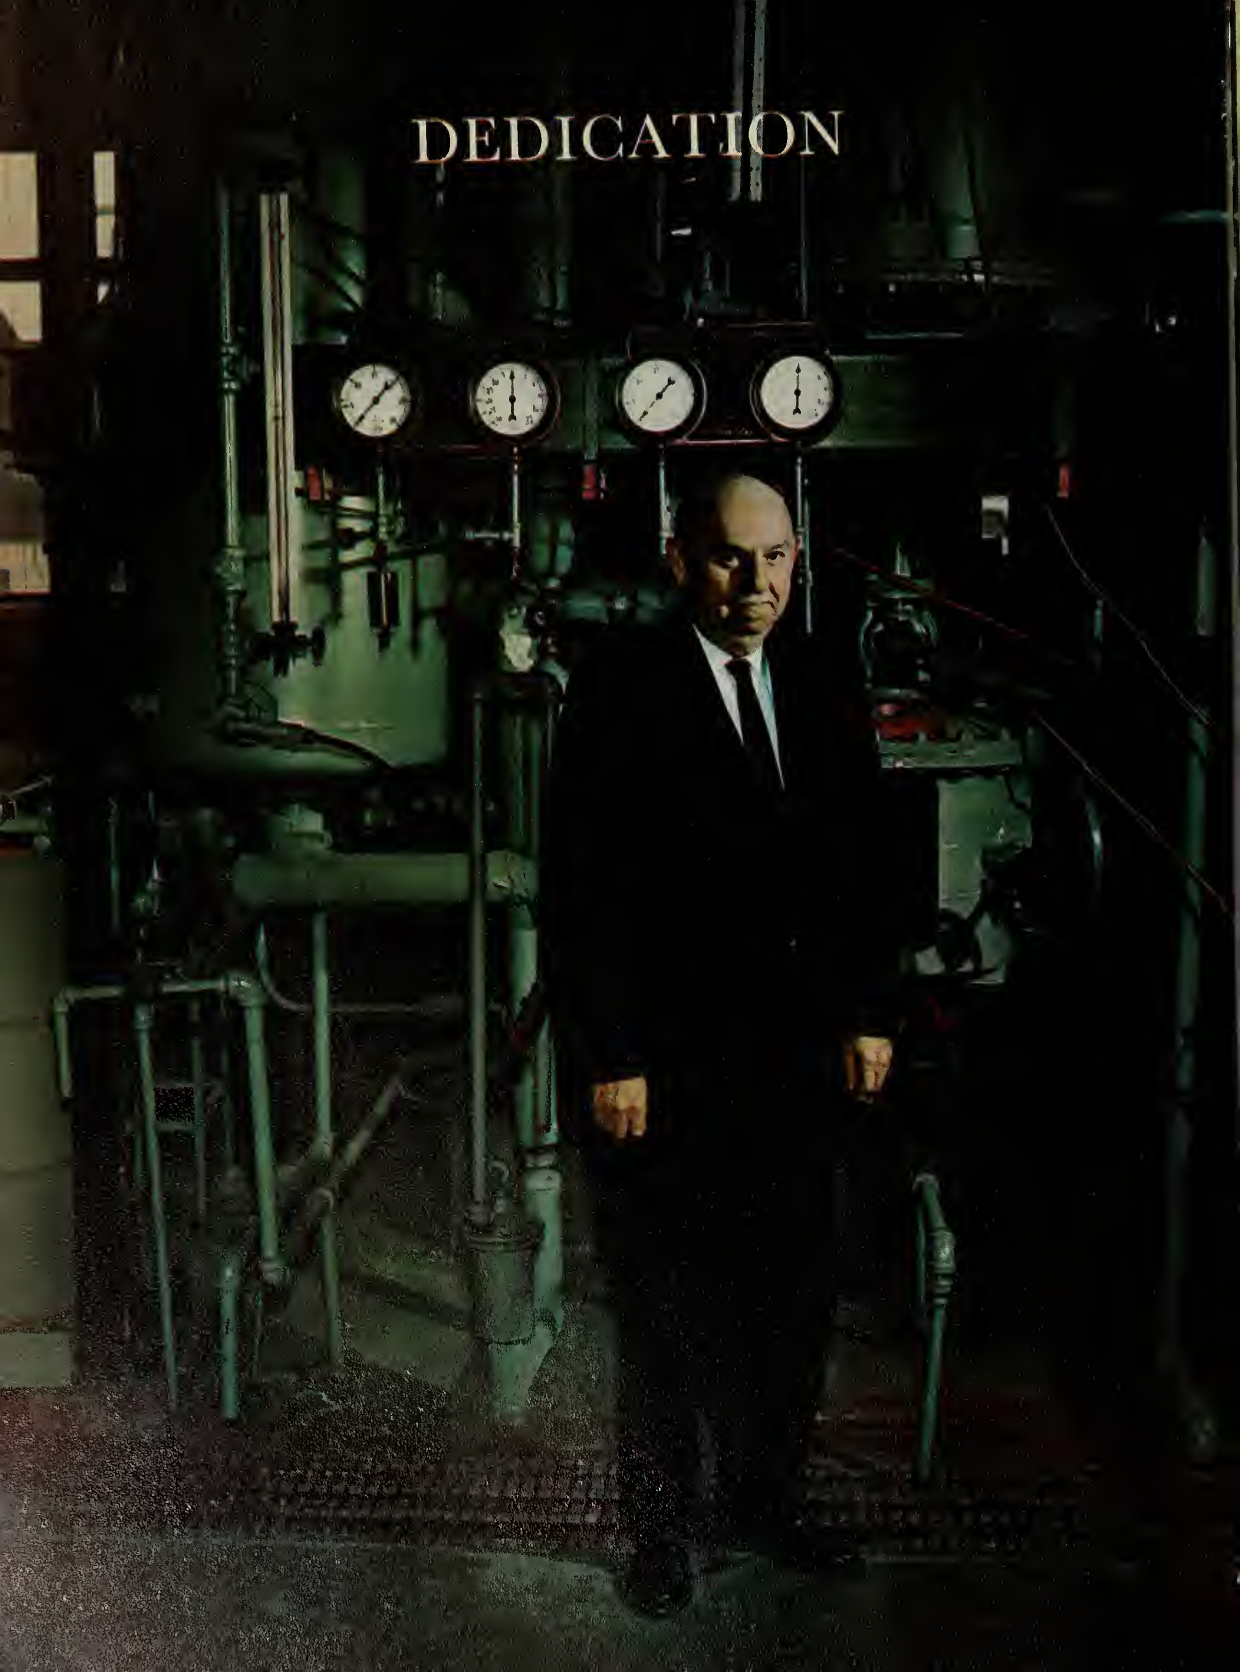
DEDICATION



"Good old common sense..."

Education is the process of teaching one to think—using good old common sense. If education fails to do this, it is a waste both from the teacher's and student's viewpoint."

It is to Professor Chester P. Baker, the speaker of these words, whom this CAULDRON is so proudly dedicated.

Professor Baker joined the faculty at Northeastern upon receiving a degree in Chemical Engineering from the University in 1920. Since that time, he more than any other one man has been responsible for the effectiveness, growth, and high morale of the Department of Chemical Engineering. In 1939 he founded and became the first chairman of this department and to the present has been responsible for the conception, design and installation of the chemical engineering laboratories throughout the campus.

Professor Baker has published numerous papers in his field and has been honored by many national societies and lauded by many trade publications.

The CAULDRON is honored to dedicate this book to Professor Baker who, after having come to Northeastern forty-six years ago with the coming of the first CAULDRON publication, will retire this year leaving behind a praiseworthy history of dedicated service to Northeastern University and to the propagation of education in chemical engineering throughout the Nation.

President's Message

It is a pleasure to extend congratulations to all members of the senior class. As you go forth from Northeastern, you join 33,000 other Northeastern graduates who comprise a very important part of America's greatest resource — her educated men and women.

You have received an excellent education for the times in which you live, but you must realize that it is much less complete for the times in which you live than was the education of most previous generations in relation to the times in which they lived. Knowledge is expanding at a rapid pace, pointing up dramatically that education has no destination. It is a continuous, endless road that we must travel all our lives.

You are fortunate indeed that you are educated in those fields of knowledge in which Northeastern specializes. They include the fields of knowledge of great importance in today's world and lead to careers and professions which are critically short in supply.

Northeastern knows that it has your loyalty and devotion. This university—your Alma Mater—has a great destiny yet to fulfill. It is counting on you to join with the thousands of other loyal alumni to assist Northeastern to become one of the great universities of the free world.

The challenge to you is to make the most of your opportunities and to use your talents and education to serve your nation and the cause of freedom. May God instill in each of you a passion of excellence. I have every confidence that Northeastern graduates will meet the challenge.

"... education has no destination"

The campus wherein we spent this period of time is a many faceted thing—not just a tangible grouping of buildings, but rather a . . . . Are words enough?

Someone once said the individual should never know the limits of his personal creativity. Once the limit is known, then the excitement and exhilaration of accomplishment cease to exist. We knew no limits in that period of time. We were given the tools with which to work. We were taken to the threshold of our own minds.

In the freshness and innocence of our youth, we threw ourselves into the cauldron of this university. There were individuals who rose as leaders from the crowd; there were those who worked and followed quietly and without recognition, each according to the dictates of ability, desire, personality and personal value. Thus, Northeastern is many different things to many people, but to all, it will always bring to mind, not just a time of scholastic and social challenge, but a time when the sweetness and fullness of life, and perhaps some of the bitterness also, reached out and echoed into our unformed character. Thus, we spill forth from this cauldron, to go separate ways and to meet new challenges, but the ties are formed and binding. For we spent together, under the shelter of this, our Alma Mater, our golden days.

Time is sometimes fast, sometimes slow. It races by when there's a term paper due, and crawls with an eternity between each tick of the clock during that last class on Friday afternoon. Five years ago graduation was at the end of a lifetime. Now, it feels like only yesterday when the history of the Class of 1963 began on a sunny, mild, autumn morning.

"FROSH HORDES INVADE CAMPUS," screamed the banner headlines of the NEWS edition waiting to greet us when we first enrolled at Northeastern University, Wednesday, September 3, 1958.

While waiting in line to have our pictures taken and receive locker keys, we read that we were the largest entering class in the history of the University and 135 freshman coeds resulted in an 11-1 male to female ratio, a big improvement, according to upperclassmen.

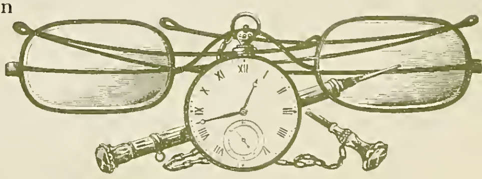
And when we had a spare moment during a hectic orientation week to pause and digest the speeches we heard and booklets we read, we wondered if we would be among the one of every three who would not be around at the start of our sophomore year.

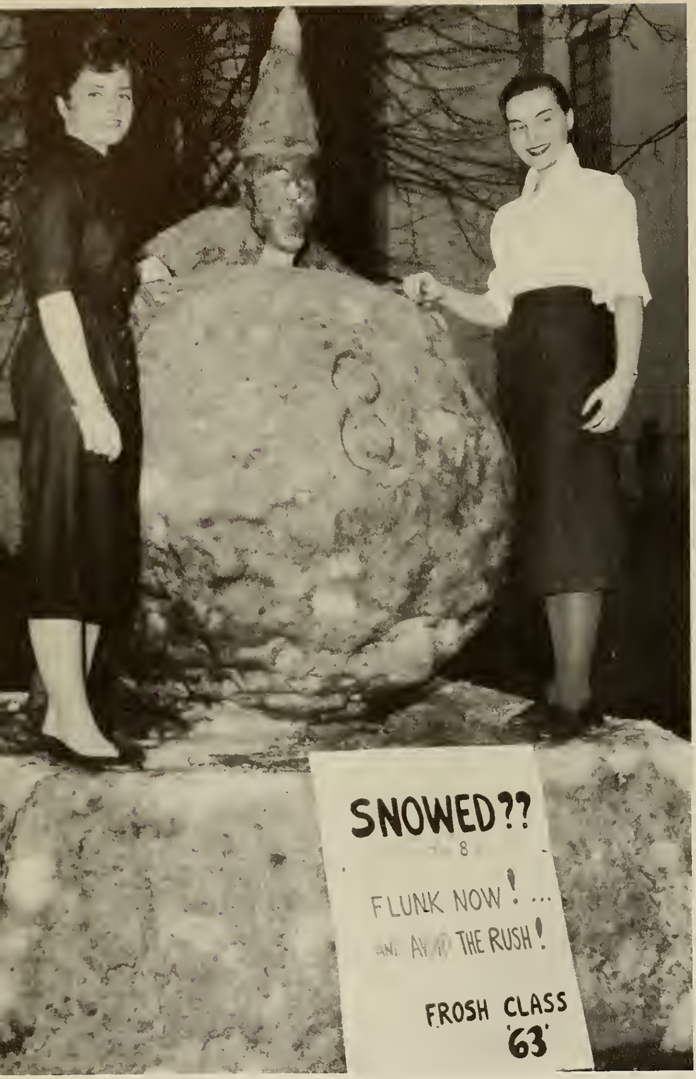
Barely had we settled down to the routine of studying, when we found out that King Husky IV, Northeastern's last live mascot, died mysteriously at a New Hampshire kennel, presumably shot because he had rabies. Since we couldn't have a live mascot, the News proposed that King Chump, a baboon, be installed in his place.

As the canine uproar died down, it was announced that the Student Center Building would become the Ell Student Center, in honor of Dr. Carl S. Ell, who retired as University President in June of 1959.

We paid court to Queen Rosemarie Dividio as our first Homecoming rolled around and watched the Huskies roll over the University of Bridgeport, 36-8.

Professor Wallace Bishop proved a true prophet when he predicted that Batista's Cuba regime would be overthrown by unknown rebel leader, Fidel Castro, and Secretary of the Army Wilbur S. Brucker praised Northeastern for outstanding ROTC achievement.





SNOWED??
FLUNK NOW! ...
AND AVOID THE RUSH!
FROSH CLASS
'63'

The Class of 1963 held its first official function. Sue Feeney won top prize in an Alumni Auditorium fashion show.

The Student Council made plans to raise money for a Husky statue and Dean Dorothy Dissell became Northeastern's second Dean of Women replacing Dean Myra Herrick.

We were veterans now, sophomores, as a monumental event took place. Dr. Asa S. Knowles was inaugurated as the University's third President and Dr. Ell became the first Husky Chancellor.

Our class made history when we decided to support a Korean orphanage but an otherwise gala autumn was marred when Northeastern lost at Homecoming to the University of Conn. before Queen Elizabeth Anderson.

The Atomic Energy Commission granted the University $41,284 to be used for a nuclear reactor and $45,000 worth of equipment was added to the mechanical engineering labs.

Somehow the money had to be obtained to pay for these improvements and tuition was raised $100.

Sports enthusiasts received some good news. Art Chisholm received hockey All-American honors and a physical education major was offered.

While we celebrated the golden anniversary of Northeastern's Co-operative Plan of Education, a new Alma Mater was composed.

As we began our middle year, a group of Phi Beta Alpha brothers revived an old tradition by stealing Rhody's ram.

Future expansion of the University's physical plant was insured when $2,000,000 worth of neighborhood industrial property was purchased.

Nancy MacLean was elected Homecoming Queen and watched Southern Conn. State defeat the Huskies, 23-6.

For the first time doctorate degrees on the Co-op Plan were offered in chemistry, physics and electrical engineering.

Art Chisolm was named All-American again, but spurned a professional contract from the Boston Bruins in favor of a career in business.

To help solve the parking problem, the Boston Storage Warehouse was torn down and the land hard topped for use as a parking lot.

As national fraternities were allowed on campus, the University purchased the Roosevelt Apartments, Dean Alexander retired as Dean of the College of Engineering and was replaced by Dean Ronald Scott and the nuclear lab received a grant to investigate sub-atomic particles.

We began our junior year in a philanthropic mood, raising money for the destitute Korean island, Cheju-do.

A pharmacy school became the University's sixth college and Arlene Wissenbach was elected Homecoming Queen as we lost to Vermont, 6-0.

The campus was electrified by the announcement of a $40 million development program, the basketball team won the regional championship and sororities appeared on campus.

Then it arrived. Our senior year, recorded in the pages of this CAULDRON.

SUBURBAN CAMPUS FOR NORTHEASTERN

Special to The New York Times

BOSTON, April 13—Northeastern University is joining the move to the suburbs.

After considering plans for more than a year, Dr. Asa S. Knowles, president of Northeastern, said this week that the university would construct a $1,000,000 campus in Burlington, Mass.

The site is a 15-acre plot that was part of a former Nike missile installation. It is adjacent to State Route 128, a circumferential highway rimmed by research and development industries.

The immediate plans call for the construction of 10 classrooms with an auditorium for 250 persons. Student lounge and dining facilities, offices, conference rooms and a small library will be provided.

Dr. Knowles said that the suburban complex would be an extension of the Huntington Avenue campus in the Back Bay district. In addition to standard courses for an anticipated enrollment of 1,000, special graduate courses will be offered to employees of industries on Route 128 and to college graduates living in the area.

RMAL 6:30-12:00 P.M.
APRIL 20

There exists within the confines of the university a concavity of confusion, a collection of cardboard cartons of milk, books scattered, half-empty containers of coffee, casual cast-abouts, a candid conglomeration of class-cutting culprits. This is the Commons, where books are read, time is whiled away, ideas are spread and perhaps something of value is the end result of the moments spent away from responsibility, the wasted moments, the idle hours, the time of shirk.

It offers not much more than food and drink, and dirty floors, and tired students, little old ladies serving their wares at outrageous prices.

There are the long, long lines stretching to who knows where, the soft-drink dispensaries with a large "out of order" sign pasted on the coin whach-a-ma-callit.

The blaring music, the shouts, the laughs, the announcements, the warnings, the plans made and cancelled.

The times remembered . . .

Those current corridors, the sea of humanity between classes, the booths offering the latest wares in ideas, entertainment.

Marking time, on the way to somewhere, the corridors (tunnels, if you will) were the means to any end.

And it was there we stopped to converse, read the posters, make the dates.

Students on the move are a wondrous sight (whether through the corridors or further into life). They were on the way to spend some time somewhere. But many were the times spent on the way.

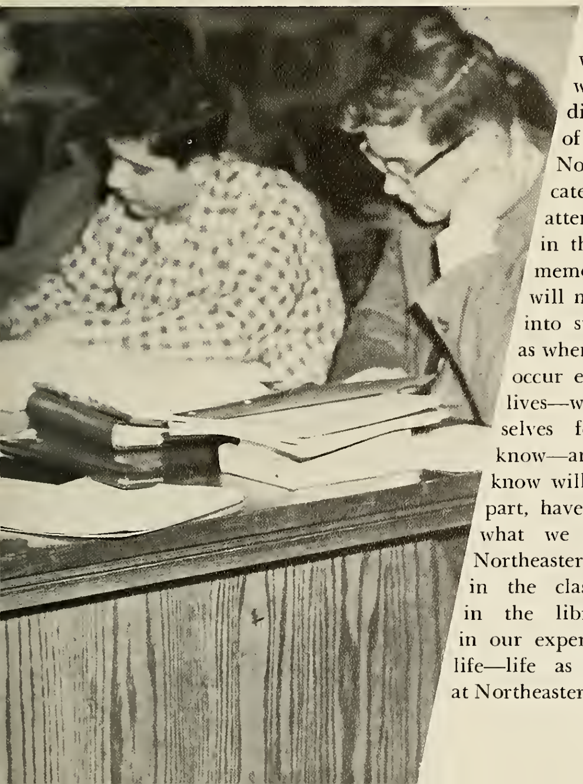
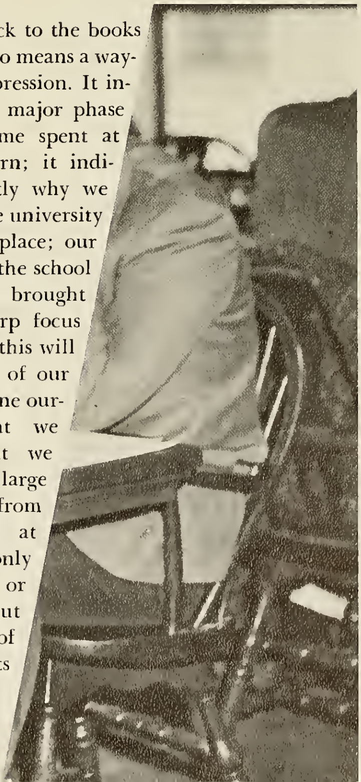
The Highwaymen In Concert

The Class of 1965 proved it could be done when it presented a two-and-a-half-hour concert by the popular folk-singing group, "The Highwaymen." Alumni Auditorium was packed that evening — a memorable evening because it was the first truly successful concert ever sponsored at the university by a class. The concert's success caused a sudden re-examination of the various ways classes could raise funds.

That evening also pointed up the diversification of ways of spending time at Northeastern. One moment the entertainment of a concert — the next moment it was back to the books.

A Concerted Study





And back to the books was by no means a wayward expression. It indicated a major phase of our time spent at Northeastern; it indicated exactly why we attended the university in the first place; our memories of the school will never be brought into such sharp focus as when—and this will occur everyday of our lives—we examine ourselves for what we know—and what we know will, for a large part, have come from what we learned at Northeastern. Not only in the classroom or in the library, but in our experiences of life—life as students at Northeastern.

The alumni came and so did the rain. But this was the last time as hosts. We picked our queen, played our footgall game, saw our play, had our parties. But the rains still came, perhaps to remind us it was our last welcome. The floats lost their glow, the football players slipped in mud.

It was our time, though. Our consolation was we would return—and be welcomed by our hosts—in the sun. We will laud the floats, cheer the team and applaud the play. It will be our time to return.

On

Homecoming — And Rain

. . . Of time

The frosting on the Homecoming cake—a beautiful queen, a blond, blue-eyed queen, a charming queen. Her name was Barbara Carlson, and a stunning sight was she—even in a rain-coat, holding her umbrella over herself and her court. And don't forget the court, that entourage to beauty, smiling in the rain, not disappointed the least bit.

O'Donnell the Chinaman

Dave O'Donnell isn't really Chinese, nor is he a dog. But one spring week last year Dave tried to be both—and a good job he did of it.

Because Dave that week was crowned Mr. Husky, a sceptical title indeed, but one in which Dave achieved only after conducting some of the most extraordinary shenanigans ever seen on the Northeastern campus.

The Mr. Husky contest, like its counterpart the Mayoralty campaign, indicates that Northeastern even has time for the absurd as a primer of spirit.

This year's Cauldron is the result of a joint effort by a staff of writers, photographers and clerical assistants dedicated to the task of presenting what we consider the most valid representation of undergraduate life, as we knew it, at Northeastern.

The yearbook is developed around the somewhat poetic theme of time, an intangible substance to be sure. The class of 1963 has shared an experience during the years at the university, and the Cauldron staff has burned the midnight oil on many nights to insure that the experience will be recorded.

PEGASUS

Our concern was speech and speech impelled us
To purify the dialect of the tribe
And urge the mind to aftersight and foresight.
—T. S. Eliot

A vehicle we made of this poetry, this precise act of words, and built values from our own verses, and the exposure to the established rank of the greats, who traded with the Muse in sweat and pain and joy. From the beauty we found, we built a knowledge to hold our faith in living. With the sadness we discovered, we forged weapons of the heart to aid and cure these ills. To keep alive the spirit of the art, to check the depersonalization of our age—our time, the one time we have. We have enough to maintain the faith of God, the faith of man, ultimately combined in the faith of love. These words are light to illuminate the power of man, to make the future of birth, this interim, and death, a total and sublime heaven.

SILVER

The Silver Masque presented a warm and enjoyable theatre season this year, ranging from some delightfully different theatrics ("Fantasticks"), to an eccentric and symbolistic portrayal of man's struggle for survival ("The Skin Of Our Teeth"); from the joys and tragedies of ordinary people in a midwestern town ("Picnic"), to a musical comedy with a touch of the Irish and all the fun of sliding down a Rainbow ("Finian's Rainbow," that is). The Studio Theatre also enjoyed a successful season, presenting scenes from the work of O'Neill, Shakespeare and Johnson, as well as Jean Anouihl's "Antigone".

SPORTS

"The squad exhibits a great deal of cohesion, the players work well together and possess the necessary drive and spirit to produce a winning season." These were the words of Coach Joe Zabilski, spoken of his football team before the opening of the 1961* season. Certainly, this was an aggregation of outstanding athletes: Captain Phil McCabe, a rugged tackle who could play any position in the line if the need arose; Ed Brady, the fastest man on the team, a shifty runner and a good pass receiver; Phil Johnston, an end who could catch virtually any ball he could touch; Jack Pignato, "Little All-American" honorable mention in his junior year at tackle; Lou Carmisciano, 160 pound guard who loved knocking 200 pounders down. Certainly these were outstanding football players, but more than this, they were part of a team whose greatest asset was its ability to work as such.

The pre-season victories in the scrimmages with Bowdoin and Tufts indicated that good things were in store for Husky rooters this season, and the victory over Tufts was especially sweet for the entire team.

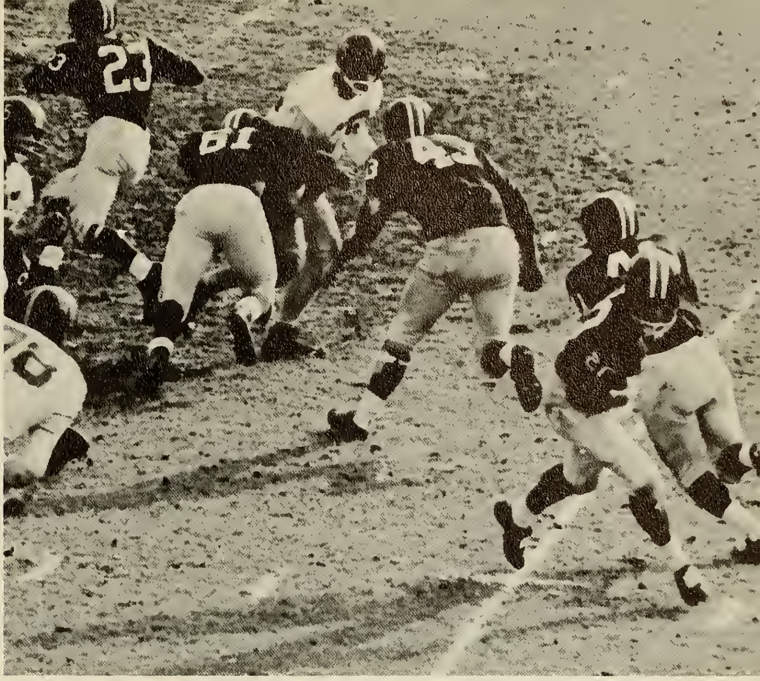
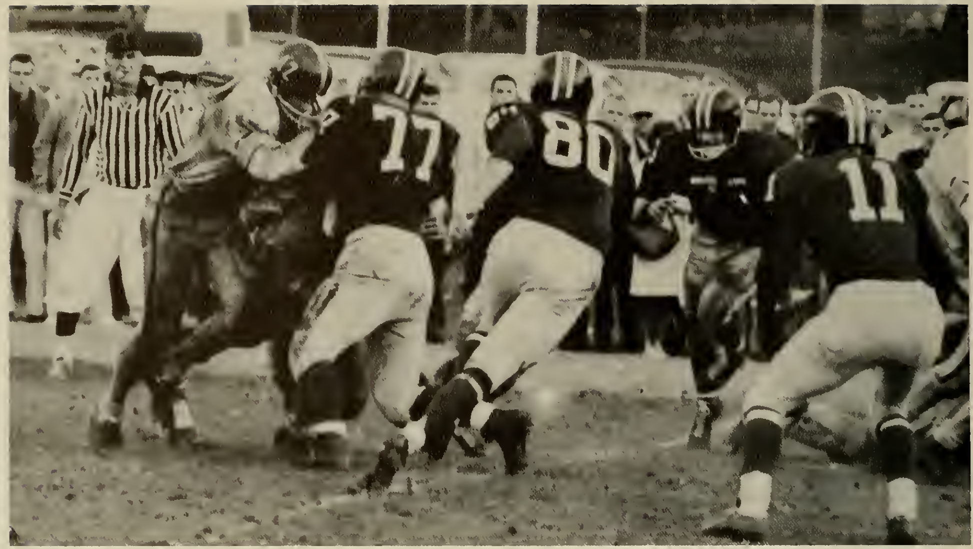
It is traditional among members of the football team to feel that the game with Rhode Island is the best indicator of the coming season; consequently, the entire squad was eager to defeat Rhody and get rolling on a victorious season. Members of the student body had set the stage for this game, for they had kidnapped Rhody's mascot ram—the second year in a row. Student spirit was high, and the team did not disappoint them, but handed Rhody a 26-13 defeat. The key play was a 48 yard scoring pass from junior quarterback Jerry Varnum to halfback Ed Brady which put the Huskies ahead to stay.

In the second game of the year, the team lived up to advance predictions and walloped Norwich, 24-2. Probably the most memorable part of this game was the trip to Vermont, during which the bus carrying the team broke down and had to be pushed over a pair of hills. While waiting for a new bus, the members of the team held an informal practice in a New Hampshire cow pasture. On the following Friday night, the Huskies went down to a disappointing 12-0 defeat at the hands of Bridgeport. This was a tough game to lose since it was anybody's ball game all the way.

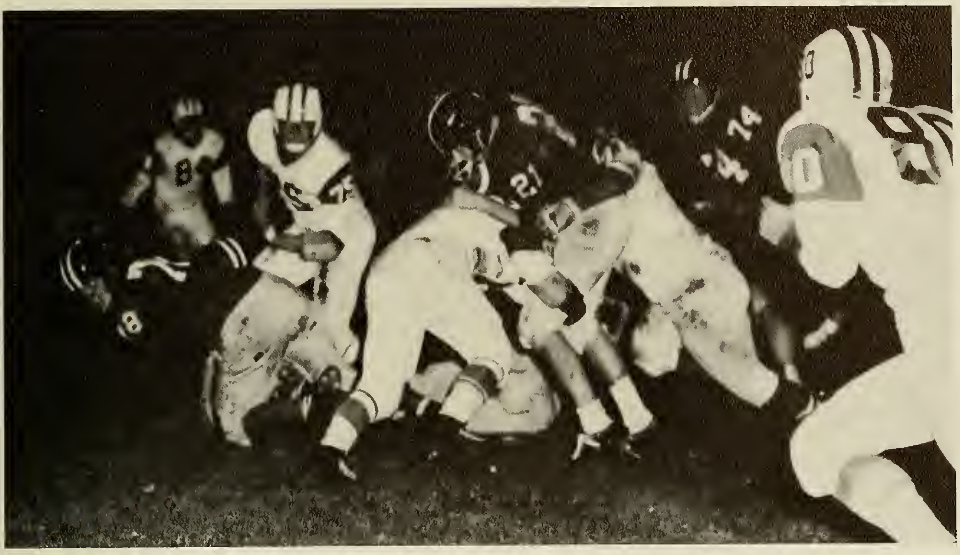
For the fourth game of the season, the squad journeyed to Springfield and defeated AIC, 33-15. The Aces jumped to a 13-0 lead, but the Huskies made their own breaks, and were able to capitalize on them to gain the victory. Next came a game Springfield team which nearly came from behind in the second half, but were edged out, 27-21. Much of the credit for this victory belongs to the defensive team which forced six fumbles. Rugged UMass followed, and NU was out to revenge a 7-0 defeat of the previous year which saw the game end with the ball on the one yard line.





UMass, however, was just too powerful, and the Huskies were defeated, 26-7. One of the brightest spots of the season occurred at half-time when Phil Johnston remained on the field to ask donations for the Korean island of Cheju Do, a drive which he initiated.

The seventh game matched the favored Huskies with U of Vermont, who paired a stubborn defense with a surprise single-wing offense to upset, 6-0, an NU team which just couldn't get moving. The final contest of the year saw the squad travel to New Haven to be defeated by a very strong So. Connecticut State team, 23-0.



This was a team with high hopes at the start of the year, whose hopes were dimmed in the final weeks of the season. It was a team which worked and played hard, which never gloated when it won and never made excuses when they lost. It was a team whose 160 pound guard, Lou Carmisciano, was voted MVP, Most Improved Player, and was presented the Press Box and New England Senior Achievement Awards. It was a team which always gave it all they had.

BASKETBALL

The 1961-1962 basketball season is one which will be long remembered at NU, for this was the season that marked the first time that a Northeastern team had been invited to a sports tournament. Accepting the invitation, but forgetting to act as polite guests, the Huskies returned from Rochester as NCAA Northeast Regional champs. Looking at the roster, it would seem as though this should have been a "rebuilding" year—with Captain Ward Sears being the only senior on the team. Coach Dick Dukeshire, though, had no notions of sitting on his hands and waiting for a good year to come to him. This was the spirit of the entire team as they opened the season on Wednesday, December 6, with a victory over a veteran MIT team. Placing the emphasis on defensive play, NU scored two more solid victories on a trip to Vermont—beating Middlebury, 94-64, and St. Michael's, 63-52, with Ward Sears becoming the leading rebounder in the area.

The first loss of the season came for the Huskies in their next game, with Rhode Island, as the Rams beat NU at its own game, allowing only 23 points to be scored against them in the second half, while winning, 82-62. Two other frustrating defeats followed as Harvard and UMass toppled the Huskies despite consistently fine performances from John Malvey, Paul Solberg and Ward Sears. Eager to get back in the win column, NU posted an overtime victory over Bridgeport, followed in rapid succession by wins over C.C.N.Y., Tufts, Clark, Springfield, and W.P.I., to bring their season's record to 9-3. Even now, there was a small item in the NU News, mentioning the possibility of a tourney berth at the end of the season.

These hopes began to fade, however, as the result of losses to Brown and Boston College; then, after defeating Norwich, a loss to Colby—a game lost by one point, 55-54. The Huskies proved equal to the challenge and went on to defeat B.U., Bates, University of Hartford, and New Hampshire. Following a heartbreaking, one-point defeat to Coast Guard, 52-51, NU came back to capture the last game of the regular season from AIC. This season saw the squad set NU records for most victories and most points scored, plus go to the tourney.

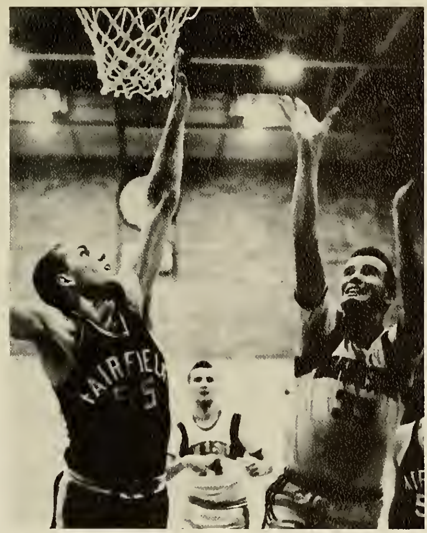
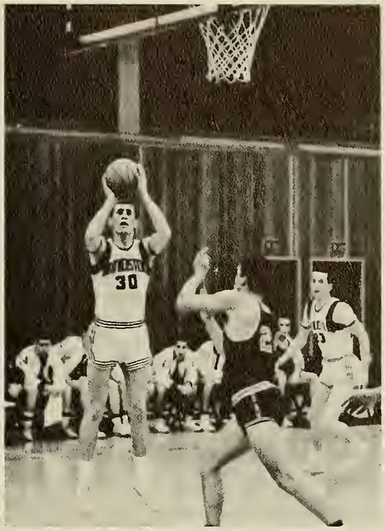
Senior
Captain Ward Sears





On March 2, 1962, it was announced that the NU basketball team had been invited to participate in the NCAA College Division Tournament in Rochester, New York, March 9 and 10. The Huskies were seeded fourth out of four, and it was thought by many that this tourney would merely serve to season the young club for next year's—thought by many—but not the team.

Paired against top-seeded St. Anselm's in the opener, the Huskies fell victim to the vaunted fast break of the Hawks to trail at the end of the first half, 34-25. The third quarter saw the game take a complete reverse and NU led at the three-quarter mark, 58-57, and pulled away in the last quarter to win the first tournament game in Northeastern's history, 88-78.

Again handed the underdog role, the determined Husky team followed the lead of Captain Ward Sears, who had the finest night of his career—scoring 25 points and nabbing 15 rebounds, to hand Fairfield U. its first small college defeat of the year, 80-69. In winning the tournament, NU placed two men, Paul Solberg and Ward Sears, on the all-tournament first team, and one man, Fran Ryan on the second team. In addition to this, Solberg was named the Most Valuable Player in the tournament. The following week in Evansville, Indiana, facing top-rated Southern Illinois in the National Championship Tournament, the Huskies just couldn't get up their usual head of steam in the second half, and were eliminated by the Salukis. More than the statistical success of the season; this team succeeded in awakening a new spirit in the student body.

HOCKEY

Faced with the near impossible task of finding replacements for his All-American, Art Chisholm and his high-scoring linemates, Gerry Cronin and Larry Weissbach, coach Jimmy Bell and his charges nonetheless promised an exciting season. The schedule was a grueling one, which paired the Huskies with some of the major hockey powers in the East. The team opened the season right, defeating Brown, 4-3, in a game which christened Brown's new rink. This was followed by a losing streak of four games which saw the Huskies lose two straight by a goal each, and then be overpowered by Boston College and in the Christmas Tourney, Michigan State. In the consolation game of the tourney, NU posted a satisfying 9-6 victory over Boston University. A loss to Harvard preceded what were probably the best three nights of the year, as the Huskies notched victories over Brown, AIC, and Colgate to bring their record at that point to 5-5. This was followed by a disappointing month and one-half in which NU lost 12 straight games. Captain Phil Johnston led the squad through some fine hockey which is hidden by this record, as four games were decided by a margin of two goals or less. Included in this was a 5-4 defeat at the hands of Boston University in the Beanpot Tournament opener. This defeat was avenged when the Huskies, led by sophomore Leo Dupere's hat trick, dropped B.U., 5-3, in the second-last game of the season. In the finale, virtually everybody got into the act, while downing Norwich by a score of 12-3. Throughout this disappointing season, the team kept the promise of always providing exciting hockey, and were never defeated by a lack of hustle. The long schedule, many and long trips, and strange practice hours make hockey one of the roughest sports at NU to participate in; anyone who does play deserves much respect.

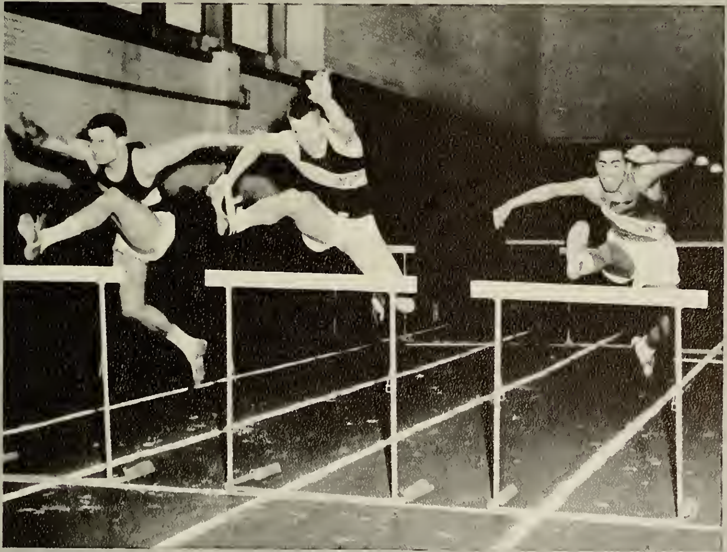
Track at Northeastern is a year-round sport; ranging from cross-country in the fall to indoor track in the winter and outdoor track in the spring, and its participants number among the most dedicated athletes at the University. The 1961 cross-country team, led by captain Dave Kneeland, Chico Parillo, and sophomore Kevin Uniake, posted a respectable 2-1 record in dual meets, with Uniake being named the Most Improved Player by the News.

The indoor track season was opened at Tufts and coach Gerry Tatton predicted a successful season. The Huskies were strong in virtually every event. Bill Lytle controlled high and low hurdles, in addition to the broad jump. Chico Parillo placed first in the two mile and first in the one mile; the weight men, led by Joe Donahue, took 14 out of a possible 18 points; and the relay team finished up the day with a victory. This is the way it was in almost every dual meet of the season, with the only sour note being a 57-56 defeat by UMass. In the G.B.C. meet NU finished fourth in a field of seven.

COUNTRY

NORTHEASTERN



The outdoor season opened at MIT on April 7 with a resounding victory as NU controlled nearly every event. This was the only bright spot in an otherwise disappointing season, as the Huskies were defeated in the remaining meets and finished second in a meet with UMass and Tufts. Outstanding in their track careers at NU were Bill Lytle, who consistently scored in the high and low hurdles and the broad jump; Chico Parillo, who did likewise in the mile and two mile; and Joe Donahue, in the weights. It is very seldom that a track man gets the recognition which he deserves, and this is true of these men and all the other members of NU's track team.

BASEBALL

Coach "Tinker" Connelly's baseball squad, eager to get started after "spring training" in the NU cage, faced the 1962 season with an outlook of cautious optimism. Dependent on help from sophomores and juniors, there was a solid nucleus of veterans. Returning lettermen included: captain and pitcher Bob Mullin; Tony LaRosa, Eddie Brady, Jimmy Woodlock, John Pierce, and Jerry Varnum in the infield; Frank Schettino and Sid Nathan in the outfield. Sophomore help was expected on the mound from Dick McPherson. Things never quite jelled, however, even though the season's record was a respectable 10-10.

At Kent Street for the season's opener against Rhode Island, the Huskies broke a 2-2 deadlock in the ninth inning to pull out a squeaker, 3-2. Following easy victories over MIT and Bates, NU dropped their first decision of the year to Tufts, and then lost to UConn by one run, in the first of a five-game homestand. In the next two games, against Bowdoin and Colby, 49 runs crossed the plate. After the homestand, which included wins over Bowdoin and B.U., the squad travelled to Southern Connecticut State to be edged out, 11-10. Victories over Tufts and B.U. put the Huskies back on the winning path after a loss to Boston College, but they could never string together a longer winning streak than their opening three games. Of the next seven games, NU took three and it is to be noted that nine of the ten Husky victories were played at Kent Street, their only road win coming against Clark late in the season. Individual honors belong to captain Bob Mullin, who put together good pitching and steady hitting; Tony LaRosa, 1960 and 1962 G.B.L. All-Star; Eddie Brady (who won letters in three sports), who started the season in a slump, but came on strong in the latter part of the year. Sophs Dick McPherson and Bud Heavey also played very good ball, and should be the nucleus of good teams in their last two years.

INTERFRATERNITY COUNCIL

Northeastern's Interfraternity Council is the official governing body of the University's eleven Greek-letter fraternities.

Socially the I.F.C. sponsors the Beta Ball, and the all-Greek dance at Northeastern, and the annual picnic.

Sports for every season are organized and promoted by the I.F.C. to foster interfraternity competition. All problems concerning fraternity probation, rushing, and national affiliation are handled by this governing body. Representatives from each fraternity expound their views and reach decisions by which all abide.

On May Day, 1962 representatives from Northeastern's then three sororities met and thus was formed Northeastern's first I.S.C. In June the Council was joined by N.U.'s fourth sorority.

Our first event, the Sister's Social, was a tea held in September for all of Northeastern's Sisters, who had the opportunity to meet each other and discuss mutual interests. Previous to rushing and pledging, the I.S.C. promoted sororities throughout the University by means of an information booth and pamphlets. In the spring the I.S.C. sponsored a Hellenic Hop for sisters and dates. These then are the functions and duties of Northeastern University's Inter-Sorority Council.

PERSHING RIFLES

Company A-12 Pershing Rifles, the University's honorary military society for basic course ROTC cadets, has entered its second decade at Northeastern.

Hundreds of PR alumni gathered this year for the unit's 10th Anniversary Ball.

The Company A-12 trick drill team appeared at this event, the Northeastern Military Ball, and in drill meets in New England, New York and New Jersey.

PR's Twelfth Regiment Headquarters, now at Northeastern, brings the Pershing Rifles National Convention to Boston this year.

CGG

Northeastern's newest and toughest ROTC unit is the Counter-Guerilla Group which was organized in August, 1962.

The organization's 150 cadets are allowed to wear a distinctive black beret with their uniforms, and they train separately during brigade drill.

The Group spends 10 weekends a year at Fort Devens where they undergo training patterned after that of the Army's Rangers.

Their itinerary includes: hand to hand combat, demolition, tactics, individual and crew-served weapons, Ranger patrols and guerilla ambush training.

The first year was highlighted by a river-crossing problem, combat maneuvers against the Army's Special Forces, a parachute demonstration, and rappeling from 40-foot towers.

COUNTER-GUERILLA GROUP

ROTC Band

NROTCBA

The National ROTC Band Association is the newest military honor society on the Northeastern campus. The organization, founded in 1960, seeks to foster the highest ideals of the military and to encourage top musicianship. The Northeastern group was the seventh college unit in the nation to join and it holds a charter membership. Members of the ROTC Field Band are elected to the association after a pledge period. The band is more than 100 strong and represents the University at numerous local parades as well as at Northeastern sports events. For the first weeks of Brigade drill, the unit trains as a company, taking up instruments in the final weeks of drill to become the review band for the nation's largest Cadet Brigade.

MEMO FROM

PETER K. SCULOS

Good way to "CAP OFF" your college career...

. . . getting life insurance before you graduate, when premiums are low.

If you're like most college students, eager to get a good head start towards financial security, you'll be interested in New York Life's life insurance program especially suitable for college students.

You can select from a wide variety of attractive plans. And because of your present age and occupation as a student, you qualify for a low premium rate.

Why not get all the facts on this low cost way to provide your family with important protection and also provide yourself with a ready fund which you may someday use for buying a house or getting started in a business.

individual service

Perhaps tender, loving care would be a better way to put it. For forty years now, Comet Press representatives have been mopping brows, calking seams, holding forts, balancing budgets, keeping noses to grindstones, putting shoulders to the wheel so that hundreds of colleges and high schools throughout the East might have superb yearbooks. We are particularly proud to have helped with
